An Important Vacancy

Recent stories coming out of Washington concerning affairs in the Navy Department will undoubtedly strengthen the pressure on the administration for the appointment of a Secretary of the Navy, a position which has been only temporarily held since the death of Secretary Claude Swannson some months ago. In fact, even before the death of Mr. Swannson, the Secretaryship had been virtually vacant, for he was in ill health for a long time before death.

Naval affairs of every country are getting the spotlight of public interest on account of what is happening in the European war. Former faith in the strength and invulnerability of certain types of naval construction has received a shock by the sinking of the Royal Oak and other of England's biggest ships by torpedoes.

American naval engineers are on their toes in planning the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of new warships under the pending building program. This vast expansion of the United States navy should be done during vacancy in the secretaryship, divides the responsibility among certain naval officials and employees. The responsibility ought to be borne by a Secretary of the Navy, rather than subordinates to a vacant chair.

Value of Citizenship

We Americans take our citizenship pretty casually.

To most of us it is a commonplace.
It came to us through no effort of our own but was ours merely by the accident of birth. We sacrificed nothing to gain what the men of Valley Forge fought and froze and starved to gain—the right to be Americans.

Thus, according to a matter of course the boon of citizenship, we have too often taken just as casually the duties that go with it—the duty to take an active, intelligent interest in public affairs; that duty to vote with the public welfare in mind; the duty to give freely a reasonable measure of co-operation in social matters.

Since 1929 there has been a change.
Conditions have been such as to show even the indifferent that public affairs really do matter. Circumstances have placed the national government on every man's doorstep, and interest in public affairs has mounted. The same thing has become doubly true since Europe's long mismanagement has finally brought the continent once again to war. Now as never before, public affairs matter.

It is inspiring, therefore, to see new citizens flocking to the courts to take the oath of allegiance to the government of the United States. Anyone who has had the least touch with the process of naturalization, and seen the glowing eyes and upraised heads of those who take the oath for the first time, knows how valuable the great majority of these new citizens are to the Republic. For the time has passed when passive acquiescence to the law is enough. The Republic needs active, loyal work in its behalf as it has not needed it for many years. It needs the firm, intelligent guidance that can come only from an alert, informed, loyal and determined citizenship. It needs not blind and unthinking cannon-fodder citizens, but free men and women who will gladly and voluntarily play their part as citizens of a free Republic.

How long has it been since you, native-born American, have repeated the oath that is being taken every day by new citizens? It would not hurt every one of us to read it through and accept, mentally but consciously, the responsibilities it implies. Here is the oath.

"I do solemnly declare, on oath, that I will absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty; that I will support and defend the Constitution and Laws of the United States of America against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same. So help me God!"

Motorists May Find
Autumn Scenery In Unusual AbundanceLocal Tourist Counselor Tells Where to Drive To See the Most

Miss Jane Hodgson, local touring counselor for the Chicago Motor club, knows where the autumn leaves are the prettiest. She has gathered considerable information concerning autumn beauty spots in this section, which should provide motorists with sufficient answers to that question that arises as soon as the family is comfortably settled in the car, "Where shall we drive this time?"

In an interview yesterday Miss Hodgson had the following to say concerning where to drive to see the most autumnal beauty:

Motorists who have the time, yet fall to enjoy autumn coloring from highways now free from heavy vacation traffic are missing one of the most pleasant privileges of owning a car.

Jack Frost is now painting a glowing countryside. The flaming scar-lets, brilliant yellows, and burnt orange are lavishly displayed along nearly any highway you choose in the middlewest. There are choice spots in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin which are particularly scenic and colorful.

The foliage in northern Illinois starts turning about the first week in October and by the second and third week is at its best.

Trees in abundance are found along the Mississippi from Moline to East Dubuque. Starting at Black State Park at Moline, and north along the river, presents the motorists with an ever changing panorama of color.

Apple River Canyon State Park, too, is worth a visit in the fall.

In White Pine State Park stately pines, American yew trees, red cedars and oaks make for a riot of fall color.

Heavily wooded Starved Rock State Park, too, appeals to autumn visitors.
In Brown County, Indiana, shortly after the first of October, each day brings more color than the day before. The green changes to red and brown and yellow and gold. The display usually lasts through the entire month of October and into the first part of November.

The Shades of Indiana, a resort area consisting of 2,112 acres of pine, cedar, hemlock, beech, oak, tulip popular, red bud and dogwood are never more beautiful than in the fall.
The month of October brings a rich coloring to "The Shades of Death," Indiana name for this dense forest where there were many mysterious hiding places in deep cut ravines.

The autumn coloring in western Michigan usually begins about mid October and lasts through the first week of November.

In Wisconsin, the foliage starts turning about the first week in October and is usually at its best about a week later. The color of the foliage in Northern State Forest is gorgeous.
The hilly country in southern Wisconsin presents a very pretty picture of contrasting color.

MANY NEVER
SUSPECT CAUSE
OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood.
They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GILLHAM FUNERAL HOME
JACKSONVILLE, ILL.

Dear friends:

Because our preparation room is especially planned, it is usually preferred that the embalming be done here.

It is perfectly possible, however, for the embalmer to do his work in the home, and this is a matter for the family to decide.

Embalming is required as a public-health measure. Modern methods also make life-like restoration possible, which is our chief aim, always.

Respectfully

Elevator Accident Fatal to Jersey Man

Russel Seago Expires Early Wednesday in Kansas
Hospital

Jerseyville—Russel Seago, former resident of Jerseyville, died in a hospital in Pittsburg, Kans., early Wednesday morning, as the result of injuries sustained Friday evening, Oct. 6th, when he fell into an open elevator shaft.

Seago was manager of the Montgomery Ward store in Pittsburg, Kansas. Reports regarding the accident last week indicated Seago fell a distance of about fifteen feet as he attempted to use a self-operated elevator. It is reported that he opened the door of the device and failed to observe that the cage had not risen to the floor level on which he was standing. In falling, Seago struck a piece of timber which injured him internally and caused a paralysis of the lower part of his body. Examination by physicians revealed that he had sustained no broken bones, but that internal hemorrhages were contributing to the seriousness of his condition.

His father, Attorney George M. Seago of Jerseyville was called to Pittsburg, Kans., by the serious condition of his son but returned to Jerseyville Saturday of the past week when it was thought that he was out of danger. He was recalled there Monday evening, when his son suffered a relapse. The body arrived in Jerseyville Thursday morning, at which time funeral arrangements will be completed.

The deceased is survived by his widow and four children, his father Attorney George M. Seago of Jerseyville, three brothers and one sister.

Occupations Class Organized at J.H.S. Active This Year

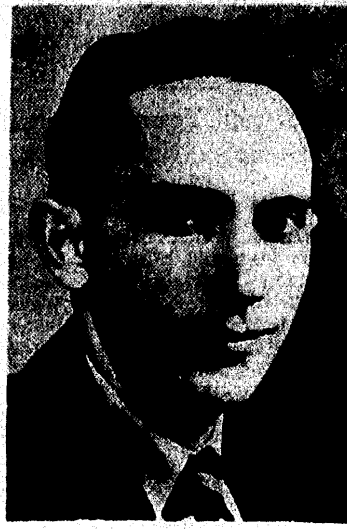

Extend Course to Graduates
Of High School and Plan
Adult Night Classes

Classes in Distributive Occupations, a course of study first introduced in Jacksonville high school last year under the direction of Glen I. Myers, have been organized again this year with Willard Cochran, who assisted Mr. Myers in charge. Mr. Myers resigned to take a similar position in the Waukegan schools this year.

The course this year has been extended to be available to graduates of the high school of the past one or two years who may wish to do post-graduate work. The head of the course also has begun making plans to reorganize the popular classes for adults already in the Distributive Occupations classification, or those interested in getting into this work.

Mr. Cochran, who has been a teacher in the junior high school for the past three years, has organized the Distributive Occupational course out of several units. Students in the course are required to attend classes in the fundamentals of retailing, elements of selling, and spoken English for salespeople. Advanced pupils in this course have been placed in various retail stores in this city where they do cooperative part time selling as a part of their regular school work.

Dr. Pontius Speaks To Browns Students

Advises Pupils to Keep Informed of Happenings In World

The students and faculty of Brown's Business college held a special assembly Wednesday at 11:30 o'clock with the speaker being Dr. M. L. Pontius, pastor of Central Christian church.

Principal D. L. Hardin presided at the assembly and opened the program by inviting and urging the students to attend the church of their choice. Mr. Hardin also indicated to the students that outside speakers would appear on assembly programs at Brown's throughout the coming year, in order that they might have the advantage of new ideas from sources outside of the school and the regular faculty members.

In introducing Dr. Pontius, Principal Hardin called the students' attention to the fact that the speaker had recently celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary as pastor of the Central Christian church, and indicated the valuable service that Dr. Pontius had rendered to Jacksonville and surrounding communities.

Dr. Pontius took for the topic of his talk to the business college students the "War in Europe." He indicated to the students that along with their business training they should be interested and should be well-read in present matters and that at the present time they should be vitally interested in European conditions. He indicated that while the war was now confined to Europe, that it was possible that it might eventually develop into a world war.

The speaker then related some of his experiences as manager of a liberty loan train in the World war in 1914. He also gave some interesting facts concerning the leaders and the conditions in Russia, Germany, Italy, England, and France. Dr. Pontius emphasized the fact that no good could ever result from war. He also indicated that while science could stop diseases, it could not stop war.

In closing his talk, the speaker indicated that the only thing that could stop war was for individuals to believe in and practice the principles of the Prince of Peace.

Power Rates Drop In 200 Cities Of State Since 1933

Jacksonville Rate on 200 Kw. Now Shown to Be Less Than Springfield

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The average net cost to Illinois users of residential electric service, furnished by privately-owned utilities, has dropped from 15 to 46 per cent since Jan. 1, 1933, the State Commerce Commission reported today.

The Commission said the general reduction was among the findings of a study in the 174 municipalities serviced by the private utilities. The percentage of reduction was generally noted to have been greater in small communities, the Commission said, pointing out that prior to Jan. 1, 1933, their rates were usually higher than those of larger municipalities. The Commission report added, however, that this rate difference had been greatly reduced.

In the past six and one-half years, none of the communities has had an increase in residential rates, the Commission said, while all but one had reductions.

The exception was Springfield, where the rates have remained constant since the beginning of 1933, when they were among the lowest in the state.

Reductions were described as largely between 20 and 25 per cent other than those which included water heating. Bills for service which included water heating showed a reduction of from 29 to 46 per cent.

The Commission said that as of last July 1 the average unit price for the first 40 kilowatt hours ranged from 4.28 to 7.63 cents, while the next 35 kw. described as "refrigeration energy," was 2.14 to 4.94 cents. For the next 125 kw. assumed to reflect cooking requirements, the average was listed as ranging from 1.5 to three cents.

Of all communities studied, Springfield with a net monthly bill of $4.52 for 200 kw. was the lowest for both 1933 and 1938; Moline, Rock Island and Silvis with $11.71 had the highest in 1933 while Murphysboro with $8.25 was the highest for this year.

The summary of net monthly bills for 200 kilowatt hours of service for lighting, small appliances, refrigeration and cooking included the following municipalities, with the 1939 rate given first, the percentage of reduction under the 1933 rate in parentheses and "X" denoting lamp service:

Alton $4.81 (16.8 per cent reduction); Aurora, $6.65X (18.2); Belleville, $6.27 (25.4); Benton, $7.50 (20.2); Bloomington, 6.27 (13.5); Cairo, 6.27 (39.1); Canton, 7.50 (20.2); Carbondale, 7.50 (20.2); Centralia, 6.27 (39.1); Champaign, 6.27 (21.6); Charleston, 7.50

usually is ascribed here to misunderstanding as a result of Chinese propaganda.

On the contrary, the ambassador said his recent visit home surprised him as to the extent and depth of the American understanding of the far eastern situation.

"The facts as they exist are accurately known by the American people," he said. "I do not suppose any country in the world today is better served by the press and radio with accurate foreign information than the United States."

"It is probable that many of you are not aware of the increasing extent to which the people of the United States resent methods which Japanese armed forces are employing in China and what appear to be their objectives x x x." Grew continued to his tense audience.

American Shocked

"American people have been profoundly shocked over the widespread use of bombing in China, not only on the grounds of humanity but also on the grounds of direct menace to American lives and property, accompanied by the loss of American life and the crippling of American cities."

"The American people, from all thoroughly reliable evidence coming to them, have good reason to believe an effort is being made to establish control in Japan's own interests in large areas of the continent of Asia and impose on them a system of closed economy," the ambassador asserted.

"Only through consideration of these facts and steps to alter those facts can Japanese-American relations be improved x x x."

Lecture On Illinois Given at Art Gallery

Chief of Illinois State Museum Addresses Members Of Association

"Rediscovering Illinois" was the subject of an illustrated lecture given by Dr. Thorne Denel, chief of the Illinois State Museum, at Springfield, before the members of the Jacksonville Art Association, Thursday evening at the David Strawn Art Gallery.

Dr. Denel was introduced by the president, Miss Mildred Brown, who spoke of his interest in the permanent collection of the Art Association, composed of early Indian pottery.

In his opening remarks, Dr. Denel called attention to the fact that the pottery shown on the screen was made by groups who were probably near neighbors and probably related to the Indians, who made the pottery on exhibit at the gallery, which was dug from the mounds along the rivers of Arkansas and Mississippi.

"There is no pursuit," said Dr. Denel, "which appeals more than that of archaeology, for all who follow its study admit the thrill of discovery. Each year in June a group of students assemble to go on field trips, which are a true test of genuine interest, for the life is arduous and all who undertake it are subjected, of necessity to many hardships."

In 1935 the University of Chicago sent out a barge with a group that camped along the Ohio river. The students worked with the archaeologists in locating mounds and staking out the area. All measurements are recorded so accurately that the mound can be restored after excavation.

In the pictures were shown the process of excavation and the utensils found in the burial mounds. These were polished bowls and tripod vessels of the lower Mississippi and effigy heads. Along the Arkansas river the bowls with scroll etchings in parallel lines were outstanding features, also the red pottery. Silver beads and beads teeth, probably used for settings for pearls were found in the lower Mississippi mounds.

Dr. Denel emphasized the point that from the design the relationship of tribes could be shown, also the influence of the art of various tribes and the period in which the Indians lived by the designs and the earth in the mounds.

The first exhibition of the 66th year of the Art Association opens to the public Friday, October 20th, at the Strawn Gallery. It will continue for 10 days, through October 29th.

In the west and south galleries are shown many pieces from the permanent collection of Indian pottery, which has recently been restored. On the walls are hand-blocked textiles by a group including members of the Boston Society of Craftsmen. Seventy-five delightfully colored Godey (Costume) prints from 1833, also make an attractive exhibit.

Many groups of students and art lovers from other cities are planning to visit the gallery during the exhibition.

Stronghurst And Rout To Meet In Homecoming Game Here Friday Night

Rout High's Roaring Rockets, who have taken up in six-man football where they left off in the eleven-man game, will meet Stronghurst at the Lake Mauvalsterre park field at 8 p. m. Friday night in the annual homecoming game for the Rockets, and the final game of their home season.

The Rockets, undefeated as yet and scored on only once thus far, won from the Stronghurst club earlier in the season, but the Stronghurst team was then getting its first taste of the six-man game. Since then they have had several games, and the result is expected to be a more closely contested game here.

Immediately after the game there will be a homecoming dance in the Rout auditorium, with Ken Penny and his seven-piece orchestra furnishing the music.

Coach Wallace Baptist said that the Northminster Drum and Fife corps would provide music for the homecoming festivities at the park, and that there would be the usual fireworks in connection with the game. If the weather stays warm, the coach is expecting a large crowd to take advantage of the last opportunity this year to see the six-man game.

The Rockets will have their regular line-up in the game, with Jack McGinnis, hard running quarterback; Paul Devlin, shifty halfback; Bill Henry, passer, in the backfield, and Bob Berger, Jack Longner, and Paul Langdon in the line.

Bill DeCorrevont Not Downhearted Over N. U. Record

Highly Touted Sophomore Says Game's Defense Is Most Vital

Chicago, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Bill DeCorrevont, who scored 211 points in his final season of high school football, but has yet to score one as a collegian, believes defensive play and blocking are the two biggest problems facing the prep player who seeks to make good in the college game.

This opinion may seem strange, coming from a young sophomore who plays in Northwestern University's backfield. For Northwestern has been defeated twice this season without scoring a point. But DeCorrevont, who came out of Chicago's Austin High school a nationally publicized star, insists that if a sophomore can learn defensive play and how to block, natural talent will take care of offense performance.

"I'm convinced most high school players think far too little of how to pass receivers, diagonal plays and try to anticipate what the opposing team is going to do. I've found that in the Big Ten you have to learn to do all those things and also learn how to block consistently well."

DeCorrevont is not downhearted about the way his and Northwestern's football fortunes have been going. When Northwestern lost to Oklahoma 23 to 0, young Bill gave a fine exhibition of shiftness. Observers noted one characteristic which stamps him as a potentially great ball carrier—he drove toward the goal line and gave no indication of being a "college sprinter."

Against Ohio State, which won last Saturday 13 to 0, Bill had a net gain of only three yards on 12 rushes as the Northwestern line was repeatedly outcharged.

The manner in which the Wildcat line was outplayed inspired an article in the Daily Northwestern, student newspaper, which charged the team lacked spirit and intimated the players deliberately refused to block for DeCorrevont.

Lynn Waldorf, Wildcat head coach, termed the article "the silliest thing I've ever heard of" and added: "We haven't blocked for anybody because our blocking has been bad, that's all. He said team spirit and morale were high."

Paul Soper will start against Wisconsin Saturday at left halfback in place of DeCorrevont, but Waldorf indicated DeCorrevont would see plenty of action.

FINE OLD GENTS

Pop Warner, Amos Alonzo Stagg to "Clash"

Stockton, Calif., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Two fine old gents who were playing football when standard equipment included a uniform resembling a strait-jacket, shin guards and a walrus mustache, match gridiron strategy tomorrow night in a game that has caught the fancy of the nation.

It brings together College of the Pacific and San Jose State college, and Amos Alonzo Stagg and Glenn Scooby Warner, otherwise known as "Pop." It's Stagg's 50th year as a coach, Warner's 46th.

They face each other from the opposite sidelines for the first time in 32 years. Stagg, 77, guides the destiny of Pacific's Tigers. Warner, 68, is associate coach at San Jose, to which he came from Temple.

In their only other meeting as rival mentors Stagg was at Chicago; Warner at Carls, and Warner's team won in an 18 to 4 upset.

Pacific versus San Jose pits the slippery flankers and man-in-motion plays of Stagg against the double wing back reverses made famous by Warner.

San Jose will line up as the favorite. Its powerful team is undefeated in six games, with a total of 157 points against 6 for the opposition. Pacific pulled one of the big surprises of this season by defeating University of California, 6 to 0. Its record otherwise is unimpressive, a 6-0 win over South Dakota and a 13-13 tie with Loyola.

Disagree Over Joe Louis' Exhibitions

Chicago, Oct. 19.—(AP)—John Roxborough, co-manager of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, said today the champion would appear in exhibition bouts Oct. 27 at Flint, Mich., and Oct. 30 at Richmond, Ind.

Other exhibition matches in several western cities, Roxborough said, have been tentatively cancelled until he can confer with Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, who has Louis under contract for title matches.

"Some of the cities," Roxborough said, "billed Louis' appearances as title matches. They will only be exhibitions all through the contemplated tour, with Louis boxing with sparring mates. There is no truth to reports he will take on all comers. The only dates agreed on thus far are for Flint and Richmond."

In New York, Promoter Mike Jacobs, to whom Louis is under contract, said he had refused to grant permission for Louis' appearance in a bout in St. Louis Nov. 1 because he understood the bout was to be billed as for the title instead of as an exhibition.

Mr. Bridgeman was born at Maysville, Ill., April 20th, 1881, but has spent the greater part of his life in Bluffs, where he was well known and highly respected. Ill health caused his retirement from the railroad several months ago, where he had been an engineer for many years.

Will Head New Chinese State

To head new puppet state in central China, Premier Gen. Nobuyuki Abe of Japan has named Wang Ching-wei, above, former Chinese premier. Wang will organize government similar to that of Manchukuo next month, bound to Japan by military alliance and based on principles of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

WAR STORIES IN STAMPS

Hitler May Try Italian's Plan for Aerial Warfare

SWIFT, terrifying air raids, striking deep in allied countries, may follow Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare, as Hitler attempts a "lightning war" thrust at the Western Front.

Military authorities concede that such raids, if effective, would materially help the Nazi offensive. But German airmen, attempting to disrupt communications, destroy supplies and factories and demoralize civilian populations will not find their attack as simple as that of a submarine.

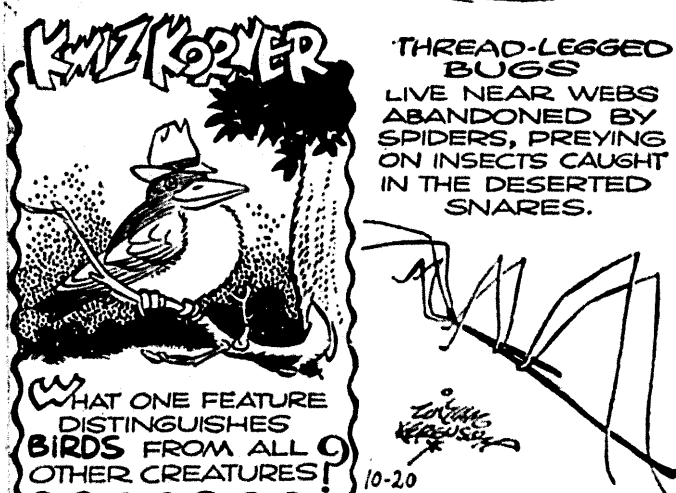

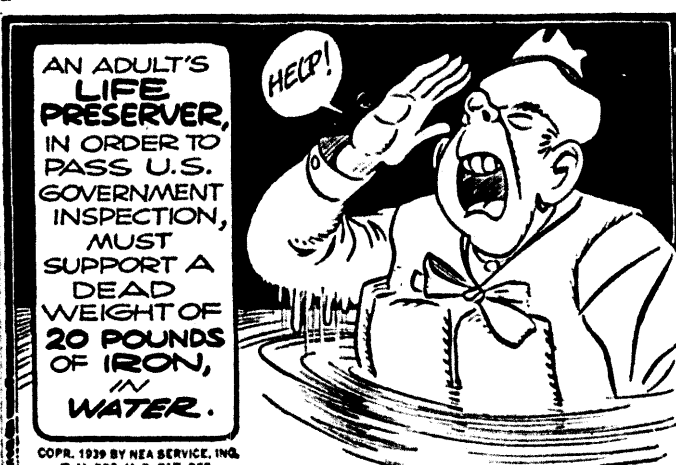

The Douhet plan, however, requires absolute control of the air, which will be difficult for the Nazis to obtain against the combined air strength of Britain and France. It also fails to consider, to any great extent, the air raid precautions which have become routine in every European capital.

During the first weeks of war, false air raid warnings left London and Paris jittery. Under expert supervision of Air Raid Precautions workers, civilians were herded into shelters, and everything was made ready to fight fires and gas. The tension has eased, as war progresses, but there has been no relaxation of vigilance.

Berlin, too, may expect attack. The German capital has been training for air raids for two years and boasts an efficient and well-coordinated Air Protection League, which is honored by the 1937 German stamp, above.

SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONFIELD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Joan broke the camp record by having four dates with Keith and on the fourth, he kissed her. Later she saw growing resentment in her.
Alpha Nu home against her.
Carol explained that she had remained so much of a mystery to everyone. Joan believed telling all about herself would only make matters worse.

CHAPTER VIII

IT was a cool, misty afternoon when Tech played Marquette.

There was a strong hint of rain in the air and the girls wore light olefin slickers over their coats.

"Don't give a hoot for myself," Joan grumbled, "but the experts insist we're a dry field team, or something like that."

"What you mean is Keith Rhodes needs a dry field to get going," Elaine remarked slyly.

"Come to think of it, Keith was hoping it wouldn't rain because he says he doesn't like mud cleats."

But the game hadn't been under way five minutes when a slight drizzle began to fall.

Neither team cared to take chances, but midway in the first quarter Johnny White, Tech's quarterback, decided to open up.

The ball came back to Keith in the tailback position. It was a pass. Keith faded back, looking over his potential receivers, and saw Barney Hughes just about to break into the clear in the flat territory.

He whipped the ball over. Marquette's defensive left half streaked over to cover Hughes, leaped high in the air and virtually took the ball out of Barney's hands.

He came down in stride and headed up the sidelines. Keith, recovering, started over to cut him off. He was just about to make the tackle when someone cut his feet from under him with a beautiful block. The Marquette man scampered 52 yards down the sidelines to the goal.

The Tech fans recovered from the shock just enough to roar with hope when Marquette missed the extra point.

IT really began to rain when the second half started and with the field turning to goosy, sticky mud, Marquette's six-point lead looked as big as a mountain.

Time slipped by. No score in the third quarter. The heavier Marquette team protected its lead played strictly defensive football.
Straight power stuff, very little ball handling and punting on second down more often than third.

Eight minutes to go in the last quarter and it looked bad. The Tech stands were silent but still hopeful. If only the field were dry. If only Keith Rhodes could break away just once.

But no—the turf was like a piece of green glass. A ball carrier's legs were sliced from under him at the slightest touch, it was so slippery.

Six minutes. Too goosy to take a chance passing. Tech got the ball at midfield when Marty Gallagher recovered a fumble. It was then or never and Johnny White engineered his final drive.

He sent Dan Webber and Tony Mango smashing inside the tackles and guards. Tony cracked through for a first down on the 43. Twice more the big Tech fullback took it and then White slipped through for another first down on a quarterback sneak.

The Marquette secondary moved in. They played a seven-man line.
Three minutes to go. First and 10 on Marquette's 30. The rain was coming down steadily now.
It trickled off Joan's hat and into her face. She hardly noticed.

Her eyes were riveted on the field below. "Do something, Keith —do something," she implored in a whisper.

The rest of the stadium wasn't quite as silent. There was a solid, rolling wave of sound as Tech came out of the huddle into a single wing to the right, with Tony Mango in the tailback position.

Marty Gallagher snapped the ball. It went to Johnny White.
White spun, faked to Mango and roaring into the line. Keith, playing the wingback, slipped around, took the ball from Johnny and was off toward the opposite end.

Joe Donchek, who had pulled out of the line, and Dan Webber were leading the way. The Marquette tackle broke through, but Donchek tied into him and dumped him on the spot.

Rhodes ran with his free hand almost touching Webber's back, sticking close and feeling his way.
The Marquette end swooped in on them, but Webber cut sharply inside the tackle position, Keith practically tripping on his heels.

Dan's shoulder bounced the end aside and they were through and down the sidelines.

Forty thousand people stood on their feet and almost went berserk. The Marquette safety man charged across the field. Dan smashed into him, surely, viciously. They both went down in a puddle of mud as Rhodes went by and alighted over the goal line.

Then, with Johnny White holding, Tony Mango stepped into the ball and split the crossbar for the seventh point.

The gun went off two minutes later and it was all over.

THEY were scheduled for a history mid-term the following Wednesday and Keith suggested that the three of them study together Tuesday night.

"A lot you'll be able to offer us," Joan scoffed, "but it's okay with Sunshine, here, it's okay with me."

Dan grimaced. "It's okay with Sunshine. Guess I can stand it if you can."

"Really?" The word dripped ice.
"Hey—wait!" Dan added hastily.

"Don't get me wrong, I'm referring to the ordeal of pounding European immigration into this guy's head. You could put all his notes on the cuff of my shirt."

Keith registered indignation.
"Say, I'm no dummy, y'know."

"A moot point," Dan murmured, and Joan laughed out loud.

They locked themselves in the Alpha Nu music room and it took just three minutes to see that Dan was right about Keith's notes.
They were worthless.

For almost three hours they crammed, going over Joan's and Dan's notes. Keith would have been lost without them. Most of the time was spent in wearily tracing the important things for his benefit.

JOAN couldn't fall asleep for quite a while that night. A pale ray of moonbeam shivered in through the open window and she stared at it unblinkingly.

She wondered if Carol and some of the other girls weren't right about Keith. Was he just a glamor boy with dazzling personality?

She recalled one of Carol's first remarks about him. . . he thought life was a lark, and had never heard of clipped wings. Always following the path of least resistance, expecting others to come to his aid when the going got rough.

Too bad Keith didn't have a little of Dan Webber's conscience and ambition. . . but superficial people rarely had much conscience.

Just before she dropped off to sleep she wondered if Keith wasn't just a little too superficial.

Waverly Man Flees Robbers, Loses Auto Near Arnold Station

Hitch-Hikers Take Automobile After Attempting To Rob Ed Dunseth

Police of three states have been asked to be on the watch for a Ford V-8 automobile, stolen from Ed Dunseth, a farmer of near Waverly, Wednesday about 8:30 p. m. near Arnold station by two well dressed hitch-hikers, whose attempt to rob Dunseth was thwarted when the intended victim leaped from the car in the dark and escaped through a corn field.

Dunseth told Sheriff A. E. Williamson that he had picked the two well dressed young men up at the edge of Springfield about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, and that they accompanied him to Alexander, where they stopped.
They spent about an hour at Alexander, and when they got back in the car, Dunseth said, one of the men got behind the wheel.

Dunseth said that he told the young men he would take them to Jacksonville, and with one of them driving and the other in the rear seat they left Alexander.

When they reached a road near the Arnold subway, the driver pulled the car off the highway and drove into a field, where the man in the rear seat jabbed two guns into his back, Dun-seth said, and told him to hand over his money.

The victim related that he jumped from the car in the dark, ran through a corn field, across the railroad, and through another field to the Milton Birdsell farm. He told Birdsell what had happened, and Birdsell called Sheriff Williamson.

As soon as the sheriff had investigated the robbery, he called the state highway police and had them put a message on the air for police officers in Illinois Iowa and Missouri to keep a lookout for the car. The two young men had told Dunseth that they wanted to go to Kansas City.

Sheriff Williamson said he took Dunseth to his home in Waverly.

Is Great Educational Force In America Kiwanians Are Told

"Advertising is a way of selling people that you can't get around and talk to in person," said A. H. Gunn, copy group head of the J. Walter Thompson Advertising company of Chicago, at the meeting of the Jacksonville Kiwanis club at the Peacock Inn Thursday. Mr. Gunn spoke on the subject, "Is advertising justified?"

"So far as I know," said Mr. Gunn, "all of us think advertising is justifiable—if it weren't, we'd better be looking for good corners to open peanut stands. The advertising fraternity has been criticized much—sometimes justly—but advertising has had a tremendous influence for the better on this nation."

It's true, said Mr. Gunn, that there have been cases of misleading advertising, but these cases have caused a bad odor all out of proportion to their seriousness and importance. No amount of advertising can continuously sell a misrepresented product. And only by continuous sales can advertising be maintained.

Speaking of the value of advertising, Mr. Gunn said the consumer is now obtaining products that are better and cheaper because of a program of advertising. A generation or two ago the lowest priced car on the market cost $1,500—and by today's standards, it was a pile of junk.

Believed In Advertising

The manufacturer of this product believed in advertising and he and other progressive manufacturers told the public about their products, and sales increased. Soon there were surpluses that could be invested in research. New ways were developed to make the products better and cheaper. A progressive cycle was set up—advertising, then more sales, then more research, then a better and cheaper product. Today we have a modern car at $600 infinitely better than the $1,500 job of 1915. The ten cent can of soup is better soup than the 25 cent can.

Advertising has been and continues to be a very great educational force in America, said the speaker. In innumerable ways it has changed ways of living for better. The advertising for a safety razor brought millions of male faces out into the clean light of day. Soap advertising made America conscious that cleanliness was next to godliness. It taught the American people how to save money and built a life income.

Another point in favor of advertising, said Mr. Gunn, is that it has given America the freest press and the best radio entertainment enjoyed by any nation on earth. Subscription payments barely cover the cost of delivery of the paper. Without the advertising in it, the publisher would have to charge 25 or 30 cents a copy.

Free Subsidized

In other countries where advertising revenue has been insufficient to cover the huge cost of assembling, editing and printing the news, the press has tended to be subsidized by special interests. These interests have inevitably influenced the interpretation of the news, opening the way to propaganda in virulent form. This chain of events leads to an uninformed or misinformed public, and we've seen all too clearly how that spells death to the democratic ideal. In America the press is financially independent and therefore politically independent. As a direct result, we enjoy a well informed, undominated, fair-minded public opinion.

Business can give the public more for its money by improving its system of distribution—widening its effectiveness and cutting its proportionate cost, and advertising can play an indispensable part in this plan. Advertising is by far the most efficient way that has ever developed to sell huge quantities of merchandise to the public.

Largely with the aid of advertising, an auto industry has been developed which has created nearly six million new jobs, in only forty years. And at the same time, this industry has put unbelievably luxurious transportation within the reach of almost everyone. The same thing has happened in countless other industries.

Guests at the meeting yesterday were Clarence Smith, E. E. Crabtree, Harold Myers, Dallas Brown, Tom Cornish and Dr. H. C. Warren.

Club Anniversary to be Marked Today

To Celebrate Founding Of Hi-Y Groups In Chapman, Kansas

The fiftieth anniversary of the origin of Hi-Y Clubs is being celebrated today in Chapman, Kansas, which was the scene of the first High School Y.M.C.A. in 1889. Ira M. Hassler, a charter member, will preside.

Since 1889 the Hi-Y movement has grown to include in the United States and its possessions, 6,451 clubs with over 200,000 members. There are now also clubs for high-school-age boys, under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. in seventeen other countries.

The small group of boys who in 1889 banded together in Chapman, to check some undesirable influences were under the leadership of D. F. Shirk, a science teacher in their school. The idea worked and the next year the club applied for a charter as the first high school Y.M.C.A. In 1908 the Washington, D. C. Association had the first Hi-Y secretary. Four years later the Hi-Y idea became a national movement with the appointment of Arthur N. Cotton, as national Hi-Y secretary. During Mr. Cotton's first year of office, the present Hi-Y purpose was formulated, namely, "to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

The name Hi-Y was first used by a Pittsfield, Mass. Y.M.C.A. in 1911, and by a Cleveland, Ohio group a year or two later. The name soon won nationwide recognition.

The Jacksonville Hi-Y club has been organized for many years. Records available do not show when it first began in this community. Many members of Jacksonville will recall the inspiration of their pleasure and fellowship in this organization. The Hi-Y, as a Y.M.C.A. activity of comparative recent origin.

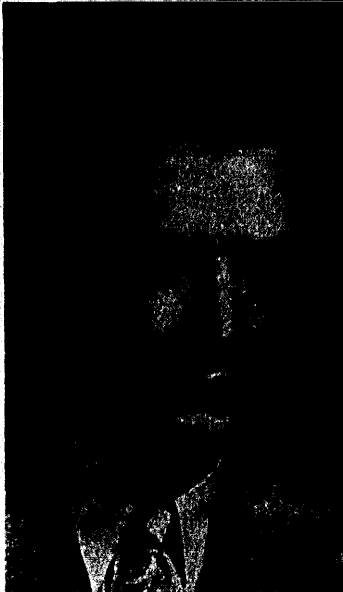

The present officers of the Hi-Y club are: Robert Knowles, president, Harold Spencer, associate, Bill Herman, vice president, Billy Miller, secretary and Robert Bland, treasurer. Meetings are held each Thursday evening in the high school cafeteria.

Trial Of Harry E. Perry For Shawen Slaying To Start Here Next Week

The trial of Harry E. Perry, 68, on a charge of slaying Mrs. Josie Shawen at her home here last July, will start in circuit court here next Tuesday morning. Judge Walter W. Wright set the date of trial at a session of court Thursday. Perry has been held in jail since his arrest shortly after the discovery of the brutal murder of Mrs. Shawen on the morning of July 6. The accused man has repeatedly denied that he is guilty of the charge lodged against him a few days after Mrs. Shawen's death.

Her throat slashed a number of times, a bullet wound in her left breast and a bruise on her head, Mrs. Shawen, 56, was found in her room, 242 West Court street at 2:20 o'clock on the morning of July 6 by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wiley Shawen, and members of the local police force.

It is believed that Mrs. Shawen, who had been shot first and that her throat was slashed afterwards.

It is believed that Mrs. Shawen was killed early on the evening of July 5. Several persons residing near the Shawen apartment have told of hearing shots and screams between 9:30 and 10 o'clock on the night of July 5. Perry, when questioned by police told the officers he was at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Kinney when the slaying is believed to have taken place. However, at a coroner's inquest witnesses said they saw Perry not far from the Shawen home at that hour.

A coroner's jury who heard numerous witnesses at an inquiry into the slaying recommended that Perry be held to await action of the grand jury, and subsequently a warrant was served on the accused man. Although a date for a preliminary hearing was set the grand jury was impeded and returned an indictment before the hearing was conducted and Perry was lodged in the county jail. He had been held in the city jail until the warrant was issued.

Hugh Green and Ray Gruney are the attorneys for Perry and the case will be prosecuted by State's Attorney Oscar Zachary. A list of jurors will be drawn today for possible service at the hearing next week.

Freshman activities begin in earnest about the middle of this afternoon on the college campus. Then tonight the literary societies of the campus will hold special meetings for alumni, followed by the traditional pep meeting about the frosh bonfire beginning at 8:30. The student body will then join in a snake-dance through the town.

Week End of Events
